

Dydd Gwener 25 Hydref
To edit, revise and redraft

Confidently the four daring fighters cautiously crept towards the terrifying door. Tiptoeing they were nervously looking at each other. Petrified but persistent they carried on. The first person in line was Maya tall but bossy, next was Charlie small but fierce with blonde and brown hair like a lion's mane, then it was Ben, the brave one who has silky golden hair, last was Sophie the strongest of them all. The door stood in front of them.

In an instant Maya swung around to Charlie and loudly shouted, "Grab that torch and you will lead the way."

He responded, "B... but I'm s... scared!"

"Rubbish" came the strict reply. "Take that stake Ben and you will stab it."

Strike the pebble at the stake and I'll hold the crucifix above it."

There was no response from the others because they didn't want to argue, and neither of them dared to. The excellent plan was in place.

Everyone knew what their job were. If they got hurt no one could replace them. Would they succeed?

Hearts pounding as fast as a meteor heading towards earth, the group crept inside the terrifying gate in hell. It took a short moment for their eyes to adapt to the core of darkness to Hades house. The pale demon's bed lay upon them looking as imposing as a hundred foot skyscraper. The blood hovering monster lay inside. His shivering pale skin reflected their fears as they looked at him. Charlie's torch as bright as the sun shone across the room. It was bigger than they expected but the right size for they're fear to be held.

In an instant Charlie lifted up his torch and turned ~~them~~<sup>it</sup> on and pointed it at the coffin at that moment Ben held his stake up and aimed it at the vampire's black heart without warning the demon's eyes swung open. He elevated out of his resting place and hissed at the four children however, the team didn't react. But Maya held the cross up high in a blink of an eye the trembling troops sprang into action. Ben penetrated the beast's heart with the stake. Maya's crucifix burnt the vampire as the torch blinded it. Maya, Ben and Charlie tackled the vampire to the ground as Sophie pummed stake with the rock into the beast. Silence. It's done. The vampire's dead.